

Scott Wesson

Scott Wesson is Senior Vice President and Chief Digital Officer of UDR, (NYSE: UDR) with accountability for all digital transformation activities. Previously, he was Chief Information/Technology Officer from 2011 to 2020. He has over 30 years of experience developing and deploying technology and process strategies, with a focus on leading change initiatives and driving valuable process improvements for Fortune 500 companies.

Prior to UDR, Mr. Wesson was a partner at RealFoundations, a global real estate management consultancy. During his career, Scott has been Senior Vice President, Chief Information Officer for AIMCO (NYSE: AIV) (1997 to 2008) and Vice President of Information System for Lincoln Property Company (1991 to 1997).

Earlier, Scott held leadership positions at ADP, 3M Company, and Federated Department Stores. He holds a B.B.A. from The University of Texas at Austin, with concentrations in Finance and Information Systems. He often speaks at national real estate events, such as RealComm, The National Apartment Association, The Urban Land Institute, and The National Multi-housing council. Scott also lectures graduate and undergraduates at The Leeds School of Business at The University of Colorado, Boulder.

Additionally, Scott frequently advises technology and bio-tech start-ups and serves on the board of directors of a software company and the advisory board of three companies. Mr. Wesson and his wife, Karin, live in rural Colorado. They have four children and four grandchildren.