

As Managing Partner of Thompson Thrift Residential, Josh Purvis oversees the company's residential development strategies and operations. From providing input on the company's overall growth initiatives to overseeing all facets of the residential team, including site acquisition, development, design, asset management, and investment strategy, Josh is a dedicated leader who brings over two decades of experience and provides strategic vision as a member of the Thompson Thrift Executive team.

Since joining Thompson Thrift in 2008, Josh has been instrumental in the company's growth and led a strong team to develop over 90 communities in 23 states, totaling over 27,000 units and $6 billion in development volume. Josh facilitates residential development by forging strategic partnerships and fostering relationships with key stakeholders to support the company's residential growth and expansion plans.

Josh sits on the National Association of Home Builders Multifamily Executive Council and is active in the community. Josh graduated from Hanover College and currently resides in Zionsville, IN, with his wife, Heather, their four children, and two dogs. Josh is passionate about coaching and developing young leaders and enjoys the fast-paced, collaborative culture at Thompson Thrift.