

Kelley Brine is a results-driven real estate executive with over 25 years of leadership in asset management, development, and operations. As President of Rose Valley Management, she oversees a $2 billion, 10,000-unit multifamily portfolio, driving strategic growth, performance optimization, and operational excellence. She leads a nationwide team of more than 200 professionals, expanding the company's footprint through owner-operator acquisitions and third-party management partnerships.

Prior to Rose Valley, Kelley served as Executive Vice President at HH Red Stone Properties, where she managed a 10,000-bed portfolio, led $800 million in acquisitions, and maintained a 98% occupancy rate for five consecutive years. Her career spans securing institutional capital, increasing NOI, and executing large-scale property repositioning strategies.

Before joining HH Red Stone Properties, Kelley spent 15 years as Managing Partner of a residential real estate firm in New York, where she led property management and real estate development teams while driving sustained revenue growth in one of the nation's most competitive markets.

A passionate advocate for industry innovation and women in leadership, Kelley also currently serves on the advisory board of Girls Gotta Run, a nonprofit supporting girls' education in Ethiopia through athletics and mentorship.
