82% OF RESPONDENTS USE THE INTERNET IN THEIR HOME TO STREAM VIDEOS DAILY

With this kind of usage, it's no wonder high-speed internet remains a top-ranked feature among renters.

RUSSIA INVADES UKRAINE: NMHC RESOURCE PROVIDES POTENTIAL INDUSTRY IMPLICATIONS

As Russian aggression grows in eastern Europe, the multifamily industry shifts its focus on important potential impacts—and specifically those related to cyber security.

The Cybersecurity and Infrastructure Security Agency (CISA) recently issued a "Shields Up" advisory and indicated that it is not responding to any specific threats, but providing a general precaution that conflict with Russia could lead to cyberattacks on American businesses and critical infrastructure. The Russian government has used cyber as a key component of their force projection over the last decade, including previously in Ukraine in the 2015 timeframe.

NMHC members can click through for additional information on this potential threat and sign up to receive additional, real-time notifications. These cyber alerts provide information relevant to apartment firms and are produced with information provided by the Real Estate Information Security and Analysis Center (RE-ISAC).

BREAKING: FHFA RELEASES FINAL RULE ON ENTERPRISE REGULATORY CAPITAL FRAMEWORK

Today, the FHFA released a final rule that amends the Enterprise Regulatory Capital Framework (ERCF) by refining the prescribed leverage buffer amount (leverage buffer) and risk-based capital treatment of retained credit risk transfer (CRT) exposures for Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac (the Enterprises).

Specifically, the final rule will:

- Replace the fixed leverage buffer equal to 1.5 percent of an Enterprise’s adjusted total assets with a dynamic leverage buffer equal to 50 percent of the Enterprise’s stability capital buffer;
- Replace the prudential floor of 10 percent on the risk weight assigned to any retained CRT exposure with a prudential floor of 5 percent on the risk weight assigned to any retained CRT exposure; and
- Remove the requirement that an Enterprise must apply an overall effectiveness adjustment to its retained CRT exposures.

REAL CAPITAL ANALYTICS PROVIDES ADDITIONAL INDUSTRY IMPLICATIONS OF RUSSIA/UKRAINE CONFLICT

The grim news of Russia’s invasion of Ukraine means Western-backed sanctions on Russia are poised to reach unprecedented levels. Aside from the potential cyber threat detailed in an NMHC resource above, Real Capital Analytics reports that the additional, direct impact from these measures will likely be negligible.

A DEEP DIVE INTO GROWING RENT CONTROL LAWS, PROPOSALS

As rent control laws and ballot measures continue to bubble up across the U.S., the NMHC and NAA are watching carefully and trying to educate policy makers that passing rent regulations on state or local levels can impede, rather than improve, housing affordability in communities.

ACROSS SEATTLE AND SPOKANE METROS, MOST RESIDENTS SUPPORT ALLOWING MORE HOMES, NEIGHBORS

In a recent survey conducted by Zillow, a majority of respondents in both the Seattle-Tacoma-Bellevue and Spokane- Spokane Valley metropolitan areas agreed they are worried about the cost of housing in their neighborhoods. When it came to solutions to add more housing options in residential neighborhoods, residents of both metros were generally supportive of modest densification measures – to help add new housing in a tight market defined by limited inventory.

PANDEMIC INFLUENCES 25 PERCENT OF RENTER MOVES OVER PAST 18 MONTHS

The COVID-19 pandemic has had a big impact on renters’ wants and needs, according to the new Renter Preferences Survey Report from NMHC and Grace Hill. The firms surveyed more than 221,000 renters in 4,564 multifamily communities nationwide to get a better understanding of their preferences—from home features and community amenities to leasing terms and connectivity needs.

NMHC MEMBER RESOURCE ON FCC BROADBAND RULE NOW AVAILABLE
The FCC issued a Report and Order and Declaratory Ruling (the “Order”) last week in a proceeding that apartment owners have been watching closely for nearly five years. The FCC opened this docket, under the title of “Improving Competitive Broadband Access to Multiple Tenant Environments” (“MTEs”), to examine the terms of agreements between broadband providers and owners of residential, office and retail properties.

To help NMHC members navigate the new rule and better understand the real-world implications of the changes, NMHC’s outside FCC Counsel, Matt Ames of Hubacher, Ames and Taylor crafted a comprehensive resource document.
